

Dominate Your Email Inbox

An action-based email strategy

A Half Day Training Program

The problem ... It's Monday morning. You sit down at your desk and feel that familiar sinking sensation in your stomach. It's not the dread of the day ahead ... it's the dread of facing your email inbox. Reading and responding to a large volume of email takes up precious time and most other work takes a back seat to this daily chore. As a result, you are behind on projects and work late just to catch up.

Email has become the unproductivity tool.

When it's managed appropriately, email is a useful communication tool, but many people feel overwhelmed by the volume of incoming messages and the need to respond to it all. However, there are ways to manage email so that you're actually more productive.

The solution ... Half a day is all you and your team will need to learn how to get that bulging inbox under control and discover the strategy that will keep it, dare I say ... empty! Desk-side coaching and guidance will ensure those inboxes are significantly reduced or cleared by the end of the workshop.

You'll learn how to ...

- 🌀 Process your email vs just reading it
- 🌀 Reduce time spent on email
- 🌀 Use rules and filters to reduce email that's filling up your inbox
- 🌀 Turn emails into actions that get the attention they deserve
- 🌀 Get your inbox emptied and keep it that way
- 🌀 Control your email instead of being at its mercy

Course format ... This program is delivered as a ½ day workshop: one hour classroom training, followed by three hours of desk-side coaching. Maximum participants: 10
